Coolidge Refuses to Commit Self on World Court

HEARS PLEA OF CHURCH DELEGATES FOR U. S. TO ACT

President Refuses to Give Indication Whether He Will Make Issue

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—President Coolidge declined to commit himself today when a delegation of Protestant churchmen called at the White House and presented him with a memorial urging him to get behind the world court proposal.

After listening carefully to the churchmen, the president merely replied by stating he was "glad to have their viewpoint" but said nothing that would indicate whether or not he will make the world court an issue with the senate.

Called 'Upward Step'

Setting forth that American adherence to the world court will be an "upward step" toward universal peace, representatives of all Protestant churches presented the memorial urging the president to get behind the proposal now pending in the senate.

Before going to the White House the churchmen presented Secretary of State Hughes with a statement approving his recent efforts to bring about an economic conference to settle the reparations problem.

Grand Jury Indicts Roth for Extortion

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21.—Herman L. Roth, prominent Los Angeles and New York attorney, today faced a grand jury indictment charging him with attempting to extort $20,000 from Barbara La Marr, film actress, following the return of the true bill late yesterday. Roth was arrested several days ago on a complaint filed by the district attorney's office charging attempted extortion and was at liberty on $5000 bail. Judge Avery let the same bail stand for the new charge.

Roth is accused in the indictment of having accepted $500 from Arthur H. Sawyer, film producer, as the initial payment on the sum Roth is alleged to have demanded for withholding the filing of an amended divorce complaint against Miss La Marr by her former husband, N. Bernard Deely. Several witnesses had been subpoenaed by the inquisitorial board but after hearing the testimony of Sawyer the indictment was returned.

Rickenbacker Agency Will Have Attractive New Home

The new home of the Rickenbacker agency to be erected at 1119 South Brand by C. M. Retts, will be one of the handsomest buildings in Glendale, it is declared. A permit for its construction was granted yesterday at the office of the municipal building superintendent. The building will represent an expenditure of $12,000, according to the plans and specifications.

Mr. Retts, who is, himself, a contractor and builder, will finish the new structure in the Old English design, somewhat after the fashion of the Cadillac building in Hollywood. It will be more than the usual height of a one-story building to permit of the placing of a mezzanine floor

Associated Concrete Industries Meets Here at Banquet; Program Of Music and Instructive Talks

Glendale Is Host To More Than 200 Big Business Men

More than 200 members and guests of the Associated Concrete Industries were present at the banquet held last night in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, presided over by R. E. Johnston, of Glendale, president of the organization, and president and manager of the Concrete, Brick & Tile company of Glendale.

Among the guests were William H. Reeves, city manager, who welcomed the visitors on behalf of Glendale; and Jesse E. Smith, president of the Chamber of Commerce, who extended a welcome on behalf of that body.

Many other Glendadians, prominent in the Chamber of Commerce and in the business life of the city, were present, together with large groups of delegates from Alhambra, "the second fastest growing city in America," and Pasadena, "Glendale's little sister."

Well Represented

San Francisco, Seattle, Portland, Santa Barbara, Riverside and San Diego were also represented, as well as numerous cities and towns of the intervening districts.

PREPARE REPORT ON GRAFT PROBE

Senate Committee Will Urge Changes in Management of Vets' Bureau

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The senate committee, which investigated charges of graft, waste and mismanagement in the United States Veterans' bureau, today began preparation of a report to be submitted to the new congress.

Recommendations for the elimination of "red tape" in the care of disabled veterans, for the protection of the government against waste in expenditures, the speeding up of the hospitalization program and the practical re-codification of compensation and insurance laws, were expected to form a major part of the report. All changes recommended will seek to protect the government against waste and the disabled soldiers against incompetency and delay in their rehabilitation.

The report deals with charges of graft and corruption against bureau officials, including Colonel Charles R. Forbes, former director. According to reliable authority, the committee members feel the charges have not been substantiated by the evidence produced at its public hearings.

R. E. JOHNSTON, President of the Associated Concrete Industries and Toastmaster of Last Night's Big Gathering.

Los Angeles had a large delegation.

One of the features of the evening was a so-called contest between Glendale and Alhambra premiere honors as "the fastest growing city in America," the latter having been so audacious as to dare usurp this city's claim thereto. Judges were appointed by Toastmaster Johnston, in the persons of Messrs. Ricey of Seattle and Stanton of San Francisco, with a box of cigars as the trophy.

At the close of the program, the judges stated that after due consideration they felt loath to render a decision, which forced the chair to act. Mr. Johnston dominating the cigars to Alhambra with the reservation that Glendale was still, unqualifiedly, "the fastest growing city in America."

Pleasing Program

The response to Glendale's welcome was given for the Associated Concrete Industries by Burton Bunch, secretary-treasurer, of Los Angeles. Captain D. Ripley Jackson then sang two solos, "Telling You" and "Ten Thousand Years Ago," accompanied by Mrs. Willard Jackson, after which general introductions were in order, each person presenting rising

Troops on Guard Against Plot to Enter Tut's Tomb

LUXOR, Egypt, Nov. 21.—A detachment of Egyptian soldiers arrived today to guard Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb, following discovery by Howard Carter of a plot by native grave robbers to enter the tomb and steal the relics. Carter, fearing that the native robbers might break open the sarcophagus and steal the mummy, asked the Egyptian government for a guard of soldiers.

Carter said the inner shrine, containing the mummy, would not be reopened until the Egyptian government gives a decision on press news rights.

SNAP WHIP OVER G. O. P. LEADERS

Progressives Serve Notice on Party Heads That Changes Are Due

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The Progressives who hold the whip hand in the new congress began to use it today.

Nearly forty members of the house, banded together under the leadership of Representative John Nelson of Wisconsin, served notice on the Republican leaders that unless there are some decided changes in the conduct of house affairs they may find it necessary to block organization plans of the regulars when congress meets on December 3.

Members of this Progressive bloc are working out their plans in a series of conferences with Nelson as chairman and Representative Roy O. Woodruff, Republican of Michigan, as secretary. Nearly two score members are attending the conferences.

With a full attendance of the house, 225 Republicans and 207 Democrats, it would take sixteen Progressives to prevent a majority vote for election of speaker and other officers of the house necessary to organization for business. The Progressives have more than this number enrolled on their list.

EXTRA DEPUTIES REGISTER VOTERS

Members of News Force Will Establish All-Day Service for City

In order to facilitate the registration of the voters of Glendale, in preparation for the approaching sewer bond election of January 8, two members of The Glendale Evening News staff have volunteered to act as deputy registrars until the date when the registrations close thirty days before the date set for the election.

This new arrangement goes into effect tomorrow, Thursday, November 22, and will insure a deputy registrar being at the service of the voters from 7:30 a. m. until 9 p. m.

C. F. Weidman will be on duty from 7:30 a. m. until 5 p. m., and Ralph A. Lynd will register the voters at The Glendale Evening

DOG BRAVES DEATH FOR MISTRESS

Suffers Himself to Be Run Over by Automobile to Protect Child

Flinging himself in the path of an approaching machine on Brand boulevard yesterday afternoon, to save from death his 2½-year-old mistress, daughter of Scoutmaster W. L. Walker of 117 West Chestnut street, the family Airedale dog, "Lucky," received serious injuries but will recover to become the hero of Mr. Walker's troop.

Needless to say, Lucky was given every care known to Boy Scout first aid and is reported to be resting comfortably. It happened that his tiny mistress managed to evade for a moment the watchful eyes of her mother and strayed out onto the boulevard teeming with traffic.

Dog on Guard

But she did not evade Lucky's sharp eyes. With a leap, he was after her. A car was coming. It was slowing down, but would surely hit her, crush her under its singing wheels.

Stationing himself squarely between the little girl and the oncoming car, Lucky gritted his teeth and held his ground, stopping the machine with his own body.

Police Comb Gotham for Child's Assassin

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Twelve thousand policemen were engaged today in a house-to-house hunt for the slayer of 4-year-old Irving Pichely, whose body was found in the basement of a tenement house.

The lower east side, where he lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pichely, before his disappearance, October 26, had not recovered from the hysterics which followed the finding of the body. Crowds thronged the streets. Women wept. Threats of death to the fiend who killed the child were voiced by the men. Traffic was blocked for several squares around both the Pichely home and the death basement four blocks away.

DR. COOK GUILTY

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 21.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook was today found guilty on twelve counts by the federal jury reporting the verdict after twenty hours' deliberation in connection with fraudulent oil promotions.

McAdoo's Visit to Capital Sets Political Pot Aboiling

Ex-Secretary McAdoo, on right, snapped after a long talk with Senator Carter Glass, also an ex-treasury head and a Democrat

The recent presence of William Gibbs McAdoo in Washington and the conferences the former treasury head is having with Democratic leaders, have set the national capital a buzzing. McAdoo, who now makes his home in California, is mentioned as one of the leading Democratic possibilities despite the fact that he was defeated for the nomination in 1920. One of the leaders with whom McAdoo has talked in Washington is Carter Glass, also a former treasury secretary, and now senator from Virginia.

TEAMS CLASH ON CHAFFEY'S FIELD

Glendale and San Bernardino to Meet Saturday in Football Battle

By AL DIX

Of The Evening News Staff.
The Glendale varsity football team, winner of the championship of the Central league, will meet the San Bernardino eleven, champions of the Citrus league, at the Chaffey Union High school field at Ontario, Saturday, November 24, in a game to decide which team will meet the winner of the flag in the Bay league, in the Southern California semi-finals.

This was decided yesterday at a lengthy conference held at the Claremont high school between representatives of the two institutions. Many fields were proposed, Glendale holding out for Patterson field at Occidental college, Eagle Rock. Inasmuch as this is the first championship team that San Bernardino has had for a great many years, they would not agree to this, and urged that owing to the intense interest in the team displayed at the latter city the game should be played in that sector. The choice finally narrowed down to between the Chaffey Union and Patterson fields. It was decided by the flip of a coin, and San Bernardino won.

Capacity Crowd

Glendale is to be congratulated, although Eagle Rock is not the scene of the battle, that the field chosen is a dirt field, with which the local team is familiar. San Bernardino has played nearly all the league games on turf fields, and it is a question whether they will be accustomed to the dirt field. The seating capacity of Chaffey Union field is 4000 and it is expected that a capacity crowd will be on hand. More than 2000 persons are expected from San Bernardino. A large crowd of rooters will accompany the local team to cheer the Red and Black warriors on to victory. The admission price at the gate will be 50 cents. Student tickets (Continued on page 7)

SOUTH DAKOTANS RALLY TO M'ADOO

Ford Delegates Muster Only One-Sixth of Votes in State Convention

SIoux FALLS, S. D., Nov. 21.—William G. McAdoo held a lead of six to one over Henry Ford in returns from more than half of the sixty counties selecting delegates to the state primary convention at Pierre Drev, according to statements of party leaders today.

Family of Guinea Pigs Added to City Menagerie

The foundation of the city zoo and menagerie at Patterson Avenue park, that was started Monday with one 'possum, received a further endowment of live stock yesterday when Superintendent Sam Warren dug up a family of six guinea pigs somewhere around the park and established them in a cage right alongside the possum.

Immediately following the announcement of the news that the guinea pigs had been captured and made an official part of the city property, Councilman W. A. Horn cleared the decks for action and began to figure out some way of making a profit out of the new arrivals, basing his calculations on the well known prolific qualities of the animal. Figuring on the statements in the advertisements that one frequently sees in some of the public prints setting forth the revenue that can be made, even from a single pair of guinea pigs, Councilman Horn believes that by selling the offspring of Sam Warren's latest catch at $1 a head, or even at four bits, the city can secure sufficient revenue to reduce the taxes materially, with a possibility that they might even pay for the proposed sewer

ENGLAND AND FRANCE ARE ONCE MORE AGREED ON PROGRAM

Military Commission Will Begin Action; Warning Over ex-Kaiser

PARIS, Nov. 21.—The inter-allied council of ambassadors reached a decision this evening to send a communication to Berlin immediately notifying the German government that allied military control is to be established over Germany.

The communication, which will probably be sent tonight, warns Germany that the allied military control commission must begin to function without any delay.

A compromise was reached, lessening the tension between Paris and London.

The difficulties between France and England over France's right of action in the event Berlin returns a negative answer were smoothed out.

Another divergence over France's threat of additional penalties upon Germany was settled also through direct negotiations between the governments.

The ambassadors approved the text of the joint notes.

The communications demand a straightforward answer to the allied demands and it is understood that Germany was warned not to allow the ex-kaiser to return.

The tension between Paris and London has greatly lessened.

The council adjourned at 6:50 o'clock.

All sessions were well regulated.

The members of the council expressed satisfaction over the success of the meeting.

Hewitt Reports $5394 Donations to Chest

Contributions and pledges reported by the workers for the Glendale Welfare Chest at the luncheon of the Exchange Club in Jensen's Egyptian Village, at which the canvassers were guests, amounts to $5394.75, according to an announcement by W. E. Hewitt, the president of the Welfare Chest organization.

At Herman, the well-known comedian, entertained the Exchange club members and their guests with a number of vocal selections and rapid fire comedy.

SOCIAL EVENTS*Pupils' Program

Students of the Emerson School of Self-Expression presented a very interesting program last Monday night, before a large company of parents and friends. Considerable interest is being taken in these recitals, as is shown by the increase in attendance.

The following students appeared on the program: Miss Mildred Mentzer, Dorothy Irene Page, Robert Rhodes, Adele Loyd, Elizabeth Brosie, Charles Macholtz, Joan Sawyer, Charles Sawhill, Vera Mercer, Bill Rhodes, Edmond Sawyer, Thomas Sawyer, Margaret Lou Cory, Frances Macholtz, Ellen Gridley, Beth Morrish, Helen Morrish, Miss Marie Walsh, Mrs. Retta Rhodes, Mr. Hydie, Mrs. G. Edwin Murphy, and Miss Gladys Levy.

At the close of the program, a short business session was held for the purpose of forming a dramatic club. The following committee was appointed to prepare a constitution: Mrs. G. Edwin Murphy, chairman, Misses Marie Walsh, Mildred Nonizer and Messrs. C. A. Comfort and Loyd.

LOT BUYER WILL SECURE PACKARD

Handsomeness Offered With Purchase of Property in Crestview Manor.

A $2000 new 1924 Packard automobile will become the free and clear property of some happy lot buyer in Crestview Manor, the new tract adjoining Campbell Heights and fronting on Matillija road, in the heart of thirty-five lots, there will be but thirty-five tickets, making the chance a splendid one.

"Each buyer of a lot in Crestview Manor will be given a ticket on this car," says Mr. Wolter, and as the tickets are being sold at $2000 up, with restriction of $10,000 on one-story and $12,000 on two-story homes.

Offers Wide Vistas
"We enjoy an altitude of 750 feet at Crestview Manor, and the view is one of the finest obtainable anywhere, commanding vistas of the Griffith park range in the foreground, while nestled just against the majestic Verdugos for a background, with the wide San Fernando valley stretching away to the southwest and Eagle Rock and Pasadena visible to the southeast."

And someone is presently going to be riding in a brand-new Packard automobile, in addition to owning a lot that grows in value every day it is held and offers a building site for the ultimate home.

Crestview Manor is approached by driving to Kenneth road and then to Ben Lomond drive, at the end of which it is located.

Deaths—Funerals
JOHN B. VALERIUS
John B. Valerius died this morning, Wednesday, November 21, 1923, at his home at 464 North Brand street.

He was born October 6, 1888, in Stephen, Minn., and had lived in Glendale almost two years. He came to California with his mother, Mrs. S. Bennett, and family.

In addition to his mother, Mr. Valerius leaves a wife, Isabella Valerius.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon in the Little Church of the Flowers in Forest Lawn Memorial park, where interment will take place. The Odd Fellows lodge will be in charge. Arrangements are being made through the L. G. Seavern Undertaking company.

ALFRED H. DAVIS
The funeral services of Alfred H. Davis, local attorney, who died Monday, November 19, 1923, at the age of 66 years, were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the chapel of Kiefer & Eyerick, with Rev. W. E. Edmonds of the Glendale Presbyterian church officiating.

There was a large number of relatives and friends in attendance, and the floral remembrances were very beautiful.

Mr. Davis was a member of Glendale Lodge No. 331 of the Knights of Pythias, the Sons of Veterans and Sons of Veterans Auxiliary. He was a native of the state of Kentucky, and had lived in California seven years.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Paul Lupo, of 3461 Atwater street, Los Angeles; a sister, Mrs. Nannette Johnson of Lincoln, Neb., and a brother, Charles Davis, also of Nebraska.

The officers of the Knights of Pythias had charge of the interment at Forest Lawn, under the direction of Kiefer & Eyerick.

GEORGE P. NICHOLS
The funeral service of George P. Nichols, who passed away Monday, November 19, 1923, was held this afternoon at the chapel of Kiefer & Eyerick at 3:30, followed by cremation at Forest Lawn.

Rebekah Lodge
At the meeting last night of the Carnation Rebekah lodge in the Odd Fellows' hall on West Broadway, nomination of officers was made, an announcement made of the all-day meeting of the Rebekah club on Friday, and plans made for the dance Saturday night.

Mrs. Evelyn Hall, noble grand, was in charge of the meeting.

Nitrogen is not combustible.

Bible Section

Miss Winifred Rouzee of the Bible Institute, and teacher of the Bible section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, gave an inspiring talk on "The Land and the Book" at the meeting held yesterday morning. Miss Rouzee, particularly emphasized existing conditions and methods of travel in the Holy Land, and of the changes brought about by the continual stream of tourists. She also told of many of her experiences and observations during her recent world trip, which proved unusually interesting.

Miss Rouzee will speak every first and third Tuesday morning at the clubhouse at 11:15 to 12:15 o'clock on a series of interesting subjects preliminary to taking up the definite study of the Bible.

The Bible section is open to all club members, and Mrs. Charles H. Temple, curator of the section, issued an invitation to all outsiders interested in the study to attend these instructive lectures.

Whistler Program

Tuesday Afternoon club women of the Fine Arts Section meeting yesterday morning at the clubhouse listened to an interesting program on "Whistler" and heard a talk by Mrs. Peter Kratznow, formerly of New York, but now of Glendale.

Mrs. Kratznow, whose husband is a well-known artist, is most artistic herself and talented dramatically. She was introduced by Mrs. Roy Ballagh, curator of the section.

In order that the Fine Arts Section may also attend the Bible Section meetings, the hour of meeting has been changed to 10 to 11:15 o'clock on the first and third Tuesdays. The Bible Section will meet on the same days from 11:15 to 12:15 o'clock.

Honor Teachers

Mrs. LeRoy Bosserman of 614 South Central avenue and Mrs. W. H. Bogen were hostesses on Tuesday at the Bosserman home at an informal reception and afternoon tea in honor of Miss Caroline Ainsworth and Miss Avis White, teachers of the A-8 class of Glendale avenue school that will graduate in February. Refreshments of tea and home made cake were served.

Invited guests included the entire staff of teachers of the school and mothers of the graduates.

Guild Bazaar

St. Mark's Guild members will spend a busy afternoon tomorrow at the Guild hall making final arrangements for their holiday bazaar and supper on Friday.

Mrs. F. S. Card, chairman of the bazaar, asks that all family work be turned in to her tomorrow. She is also to receive all tickets and ticket money.

Complete equipment has been installed in the new kitchen at the Guild hall and all is in readiness for the supper Friday night.

Alpha Delphians

Mrs. M. W. Lechner, of Los Angeles, is to address the Alpha Delphian chapter, Thursday morning, at the home of Mrs. Barton Manbert, at 621 South Columbus avenue, on "Correct Criticism." The Lotus group has arranged the program.

This morning meeting will begin at 10 o'clock, and at noon the members and their guests, will go to the Egyptian Village cafe for luncheon.

Teachers' Club

The City Teachers' Choral club met for practice last night at the home of the accompanist, Miss Gladys Sharpe, 109 West Lomita avenue. Singing was directed by Miss Elsa Brennaman. Following the practice, a social hour was enjoyed.

Refreshments were served by the social committee composed of Miss Daisy Keane, Miss Lucretia Potter and Miss Sharpe. Sixteen were present.

P. E. O. Dinner

Chapter J. P. E. O. members were hostesses last night at a dinner at the home of the president, Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward, at 307 North Kenwood street, complimentary to the state president, Mrs. Ollie P. Cramer, of Los Angeles, and the state organizer, Mrs. La Belle Townsend, also of Los Angeles.

Honored guests and hostesses made up a company of nineteen, enjoying dinner and an informal social evening together.

Meet at Church

The women's missionary society of the Tropico Presbyterian church will meet Thursday afternoon in the social hall of the church at 2:30 p. m., announces Mrs. H. B. Goldsborough, president of the society. Mrs. Frank Ashton, chairman of the home department of the society, will have charge of the program.

Arts and Crafts

Painting ginger-jars will be the work of the Arts and Crafts Section B meeting Thursday morning, at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. Mrs. William E. Wattles, curator, asks that all members be on hand at 10 o'clock and that each one bring oil paints, brush and white enamel.

Rebekah Lodge

At the meeting last night of the Carnation Rebekah lodge in the Odd Fellows' hall on West Broadway, nomination of officers was made, an announcement made of the all-day meeting of the Rebekah club on Friday, and plans made for the dance Saturday night.

Mrs. Evelyn Hall, noble grand, was in charge of the meeting.

Double Wedding

News has been received in Glendale telling of the double wedding Thursday, November 15, 1923, in Santa Barbara, of Miss Marion Bashford and O. C. Dahlman, and Mrs. Frances Olivas and J. C. Dahlman.

The two young men are brothers and are owners of the Dahlman Construction company, of Los Angeles.

Mrs. J. C. Dahlman will be remembered in Glendale, as Frances Spence. She lived here when a small child.

After a motor trip to San Francisco, both couples will return south to live in Los Angeles.

Board Will Meet

The board of directors of the Madrigal club are to meet next Monday afternoon at the Congregational church, following the regular weekly rehearsal. The meeting was announced by Mrs. Paul Hoffman, president, at the club meeting on Monday.

It was also announced that Mrs. Macmillin's team, No. 1, is fifty points ahead in the present membership drive.

Indian Supper

An unusual and very unique program is announced for Friday night in the social hall of the Tropico Presbyterian church, corner of Laurel and Central avenues, when the intermediate and senior departments of the Sunday school will be entertained at 6 o'clock at an "Indian supper."

Miss Bessie Lawton, for seven years a teacher in a girl's school at Jahnsi, India, will be present, dressed in the native costume, and the supper, both in food and service, will be in the fashion of that country.

During the social hour games and stories of India will interest the young guests.

Yama Yama Dance

A Yama Yama dance, Saturday night, December 1, in the I. O. O. F. hall, on West Broadway, is to be the big pre-Christmas affair given by the Jolly Bachelors. Music for dancing will be furnished by Kelly's Shrine club orchestra, and prizes will be awarded for the cleverest character portrayals.

FACTORY BRANCH FOR STOVE FIRM

Quicker Service and Delivery on A-B Product, Says Glendale Agent

According to announcement made this morning by Manager D. L. Larkin of the Good Housekeeping Shop, 140 South Brand boulevard, the A-B Stove Manufacturing company of Battle Creek, Michigan, will begin construction of a factory branch at 2121 East Fifty-first street, Los Angeles, within a very short time.

The Good Housekeeping Shop, asserts Mr. Larkin, is the Glendale selling agent for the A-B Stove company and the establishment here of a local factory will facilitate deliveries and service on these stoves.

The present warehouses of the company will be discontinued and all shipments will be made direct from the factory. Special sales at greatly reduced prices of A-B stoves are now being made, one of which is announced in the advertising columns of today's Glendale Evening News.

The Los Angeles factory will be in charge of J. E. Moore, district manager, 1461 Dorothy drive, and C. W. Dobbins, assistant district manager, 627 Lexington drive, both of Glendale.

Fur Is Taken From Club Through Error

A valuable fox fur was taken by mistake from the cloak room at the Tuesday Afternoon club last night and the person who made the error is requested to return the fur to the club or to telephone Glendale 861-W and it will be called for. A banquet was served at the club last night to about 200 business men and a number of women were in charge of the service. It is presumed that in the excitement of the moment the fur, owned by one of the women who was serving, was carried away by mistake and so this notice is given in order that the party making the error may know to whom to return it.

Would Halt Shipment of Inflammable Films

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The mailing or shipping of inflammable motion picture films in interstate commerce would be prohibited under a bill to be introduced in congress next month by Representative Sanders, Republican, of Indiana. It was announced at the capitol today. Under the terms of the bill, the films would have to be rendered fireproof before they could be moved from one state to another.

Mr. Sanders, district manager, 627 Lexington drive, both of Glendale.

CO-OPERATION OF PARENTS NEEDED

'Get the Job Done,' Says Speaker in Talk on Education of Children

"Get the job done," was the terse and epigrammatic way in which Dr. Lester B. Rogers, dean of the School of Education, of the University of Southern California, referred to the various angles of educating a child, in an address before the Ceritos Avenue school Parent-Teacher association, on Tuesday afternoon.

Whether it is the function of the school to take over the responsibilities which rightfully belong to the home, or not, the main thing is to get the job done, and the function of the Parent-Teacher association is to collaborate and co-operate with the home and the school in what is essentially a constructive problem.

Mrs. W. F. Small presided over the meeting and introduced Dr. Rogers, the speaker of the afternoon.

During the business session following the address the minutes of the preceding meeting and of a recent board meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. H. F. Croft, and approved.

Mrs. Garber reported that the sale of home-cooked food held recently netted the sum of $35. Mrs. McReynolds announced that each Thursday at 3 o'clock there were games on the school grounds and parents are invited to visit the grounds and watch the games.

"Postpone Fathers' Night," which had been announced for December 14, was postponed to a later date to be announced, on account of the art exhibit on that date in which all the pupils of Glendale schools are to have a part.

The program of the afternoon included flag salute and singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the members; a piano solo by Margaret Byerly, "Autumn Song"; recitation "Your Flag and My Flag," by Jack Garber; piano solo, "Twilight Idyl," by Louise Hill.

Coffee and delicious home-made cake were served in the domestic science room by Mrs. McCurdy, chairman of the hospital committee, assisted by Mesdames Woodbury, McReynolds and Curtis.

ROLAND SQUARE'S MERIT IS PROVEN

No. 2 Is Now Announced by J. R. Grey Company and Demand Is Brisk

The J. R. Grey Realty company of 124 North Brand boulevard, having just completed sale of their Roland Square subdivision near the Patterson avenue park, announce Roland Square No. 2, lying between the Pacific Electric Fourth street line and San Fernando road, bounded on the east by Thompson avenue and on the west by Allen avenue.

With Fourth street a 130-foot boulevard, now being paved through from Burbank to the Glendale city limits, and served by Pacific Electric busses, "the Brand boulevard of the northwest section," as this thoroughfare is called, is rapidly becoming an important business artery. J. R. Grey points out.

San Fernando road, the south boundary of the tract, moreover, is soon to be widened to a 100-foot boulevard. Mr. Grey adds, calling attention to the fact that so located, Roland Square, No. 2 is destined to equal if not out-rival its predecessor, the original Roland Square, which within a year has more than doubled in value, and where at the present time sixty homes have been erected since the opening day, ample evidence of the successful operation of the J. R. Grey Realty company.

Exceptional Property

"Roland Square No. 2, having long stood out as an exceptional piece of property, offers wonderful values," says Mr. Grey, "particularly to those who are looking for lots with a decided speculative feature, though sterling in real merit. When it is considered that terms are so reasonable as 10 per cent down and small monthly payments, practically anyone can avail himself of the opportunity offered."

"Located close to the Grand View grammar school, adjoining Glendale's industrial section, served by trolley and bus lines, and near all facilities for convenient home life, the tract may be said to approach the ideal. Each lot, furthermore, is covered with a fine stand of Zinfandel grapes. Values at Roland Square No. 2, then, are bound to show rapid increases and offer a sure profit to all who buy now, before the

Striking Beauty and Fine Performance Featured in this FOUR-DOOR COUPE

Smartly dressed, either in rich maroon or sky blue, with shining black fenders and running gear, this beautiful low-swung model is a matchless picture of enclosed car beauty.

And in addition to its striking appearance and rich appointments there are hidden values that reveal themselves in smooth, quiet performance and years of satisfactory service.

For example, the framework is solidified by five rugged cross-members. Doors and windows are weather-tight and rattle-proof.

Mohair storm strips lined with rubber tubing around the double-catch doors keep out chill winds and sifting snows.

Special Nash springs, composed of fifteen thin flexible leaves and a rebound plate, cradle the shocks of rougher roads and ride the car over bumps and ruts with an easy rolling motion.

But more appealing than any of these features is the swift, silent response of the Nash perfected motor.

At all speeds it performs with a delightful briskness and quietness.

VARIETY ARTISTS TO HAVE TRYOUT

Pick of Student Talent to Appear at Vaudeville
Show, December 13

The auditorium of the Glendale Union High school's new building will be christened on the night of December 13, when the first performance of the variety show to be given by the pupils of the school will be presented to the public.

In order that the premiere may be worthy of its magnificent setting, the entire student body and faculty are working to make the event a grand success. The show will be given two nights, December 13 and 14.

The central committee, composed of Glenn Roberts, Marjorie Neilson, Richard Ryan, Dante LaFranchi, Read Stearnman and Ronald West, held a meeting yesterday and discussed plans for the performance. Class tryouts, of which Mrs. George D. McDill and A. L. Ferguson, vice-principals, are judges, will be held Thursday, followed by department tryouts on Friday. The latter tryouts will be judged by both the central and advisory committees. The advisory committee is composed of members of the faculty.

NEW SUBDIVISION SELLING RAPIDLY

Glendale Heights Extension
Appeals to Homeseek-ers, Owners Declare

Glendale Heights Extension, the slightly tract put on the market Saturday, November 17, by Hope, Hardin & Weldon, whose headquarters are at the intersection of Palmer avenue and Adams street, where the tract is located, is selling very rapidly, reports Will P. Hope.

Located only twenty minutes from Los Angeles, via Adams street, York boulevard, Verdugo road and San Fernando road, Glendale Heights Extension offers home-seekers large, picturesque lots commanding a view of the entire York valley.

Just south of the tract is Glendale Heights, which sold out in record time a year ago and where sensational profits were made, according to Mr. Hope, who calls attention to the fact that with lots now selling between $1000 and $2500, with reasonable terms and adequate restrictions, similar profits at Glendale Heights Extension are sure.

COMMENT That's All

Huge Waste Over Border.
Vice Cannot Be Justified.
Hi Johnson for President.
Those 'Progressive Leagues'

By Gil A. Cowan

Glendale folks, as a rule, are not addicted to drinking or gambling, thank goodness. But for your information let me recite to-day some reasons for the move, meet now on foot along the border and particularly in Imperial county, to get a fifty-mile zone free of booze, games and vice south of the international border.

In July last, it is reported, $247,000 checks on Imperial valley banks were cashed in Mexico, the one wide-open border town. It is said that few wage-earners return with a penny left. In other words, there was wasted in Mexican resorts approximately a quarter million of dollars.

Taking that as an arbitrary figure, and no doubt it was excessive, for July is not only prosperous but dry in Imperial county, we will say for the sake of argument that twelve times a quarter of a million, or $3,000,000, is wasted in Mexico by Americans.

If this sum were invested in buildings it would mean that 50 per cent would be again placed in circulation by the labor involved, making a total of $4,500,000, of which more than 20 per cent would be banked.

That would mean a million more bank deposits on which loans would be made, financing $2,500,000 property. And so it goes—a continuous turnover which promotes prosperity.

Now for the other side of the story. The gambling concessionaires tell of the skilled labor they employ. For instance, there is the stud poker dealer, top man getting $12 a day and second rater making the munificent salary of $8 for eight hours.

Now the latter is expected to average $20 for the house every hour. In other words, the "work-er" gets but 5 per cent of the gross, and he saves very little of that.

In all legitimate lines of endeavor "labor" actually gets more than 50 per cent of the gross. From an economic standpoint we must agree that licensed games in Mexico border towns are the rankest form of "industry."

As soon as Hiram Johnson, California's senior senator, announced his candidacy for the presidency the party politicians in charge of the C. O. P. steam roller hastened to organize "Coolidge-for-President" clubs.

President Coolidge undoubtedly is an estimable man. He has much in his favor. Yet we do feel that the great and growing west, with its need for development, would do well to have a westerner, for at least one term, in the presidential chair.

That man may not be Johnson, but, if not, who? We know of no one better fitted from political experience, although there may be.

As a compromise, Frank O. Lowden of Illinois would sound mighty likely.

However, compromising with politicians is poor business. It is said—and we believe, truthfully—that for $68,000 appropriations Governor Richardson could have had his own way all through at the last legislature.

For once in their lives the pork barrel crew found no compromise. Now we find members of this discredited gang of political wreckers organizing so-called progressive leagues. There is not an outstanding figure amongst them. Indeed, the whole shebang favors very much of Will C. Wood's selection, with the possible exception of Senator Herbert C. Jones and Lieut. Gov. C. C. Young, who were prominent in the great senate "battle" against "economy and efficiency."

If the public could know these gentlemen we have mentioned, and watch their work, we have every reason to believe Governor Richardson would be given a vote of confidence for ignoring them, rather than having compromised to save the present breach in state organization.

What think you of the farce in Oklahoma? Briefly, we would like to lay ourselves open by calling the whole retinue of state officials a fine flock of saps. From the looks of things popular government is going to be more unpopular.

The people elect a governor. A gang sets out to get him. He goes after the gang. Secret societies, state troops and a slapstick legislature provide page one laughing stock for a nation. Great stuff!

Realty Man Resigns Post With Guthrie Co.

Severing a business connection that has covered the past four years, is the announcement that O. E. Von Oven, well-known Glendale and realty salesman, is leaving the Charles B. Guthrie company of 110 West Broadway. During his association with the Guthrie company, Mr. Von Oven has been successful as salesman, manager of branch offices, and more recently a valued member of the staff in the main office. A residence of twelve years in Glendale and success in the realty game have made Mr. Von Oven a 100 per cent Glendale booster and while he states his future plans are indefinite, it is probable that he may establish his own realty business in Glendale.

CHURCH BUILDING FUND INCREASED

Mrs. George D. McDill Tells in Rhyme of Housewife's
Money Troubles

The monthly meeting of the Pastor's Aid society was held yesterday morning in the Glendale Presbyterian church. In the afternoon the Missionary society held its monthly meeting. In addition to the usual routine business this meeting was addressed by Miss Katherine McCune, a Presbyterian missionary from Korea.

Much interest was shown in the raising of money for the new church building fund. At a recent meeting a plan was adopted by which each woman was to earn a dollar and come to the December meeting and tell in rhyme how her dollar was earned. More than $100 was raised in this way.

A number of the poems submitted were received most enthusiastically. The one prepared by Mrs. George D. McDill of 1451 East Wilson avenue was of special interest, and is herewith submitted:

At our last meeting we heard
Upon a plan to meet our need,
Requiring each and every member
To EARN A dollar by November.

Bringing the cash in at this time,
Explaining how 'twas earned in rhyme,
Today I must make a report,
Though I can only say: "I'm short."

How can a housewife money earn,
When her whole time, and her conscience is serving others day by day
In works of love, and not for pay?

She EARNs enough, all will allow,
But to "concrete" and beautify it,
Her service brings sincere affection,
More prized by her than cash collection.

If she were paid for all her labors,
By those at home, and by her neighbors,
Her pocketbook would burst its sides,
And she would "own the town" besides.

Think what she does, day after day,
Without a thought of money pay!
She scrubs, she mends, she bakes,
She sews, she washes, she makes,
She sweeps and dusts, just like the chickens,
She bathes the dog and picks his feathers,
And mows the lawn and hives the bees.

She plans the menus as they need,
And serves the annuals and feed,
The while she plans a social treat
And entertains them as they eat.

When sick, she nurses them to health,
Without a tax upon their wealth.
In short, she does a lot of chores,
Both in the house and out of doors.

How can I EARN, also, O LORD?
A dollar bill, and not neglect
My household tasks? I racked my brain.

Until I scarce could stand the strain.

At last I thought that I would try
To bake and sell a pumpkin pie.
This I did, and my teen cents,
Which hardly paid for the contents,
"Earned, but no cash," I must relate;
I charge it to the married state.

Of all sad words that I recall,
"I can't collect" are worst of all.
However, while my husband slept,
Into his dressing room I crept;
And, while he snored and never heeded,
I took the eighty-five I needed.

$150,000 GIFT FOR GIRLS' BUILDING

Occidental College Trustee
Finances Dormitory in Memory of Wife

Dr. William Meade Orr, trustee of Occidental, generous benefactor and friend of the institution, has just announced to President R. D. Bird, head of the college, the gift of $150,000 for the erection of a Women's dormitory building on the Occidental college campus as a memorial to his beloved wife, Mrs. William Meade Orr, who passed away early last week after a brief illness.

This splendid surprise now makes it possible for the women of that institution to have the best dormitory and recreation center, fully complete with the latest devices of any girls' school, college or university in the country. Dr. Orr desires to have his gift not only include the building, but every furnishing that is contained in the handsome structure.

Work will probably start very shortly, and the new dormitory will be completed before the opening of the college year in September. A campaign was under way for raising money in order to build a dormitory, but now all the money has been donated.

Ingledue Building Under Construction

Glendaleans are watching with interest progress on the C. W. Ingledue building at 109-111 South Glendale avenue.

The building is to be a one-story, two-room structure, of buff brick construction, costing $8000. Ample provision is made in the plans for future additions. Tom Anderson is the contractor in charge of the work, which will be completed within sixty days.

A ground area of 60x50 feet is covered by the building. One room is 30x50 feet and the other 29x50 feet, with 40x50 feet in the rear for storeroom purposes.

Modern electric equipment is to be installed. The C. W. Ingledue Realty company will occupy the new building and the W. P. Ashton Plumbing company the south room.

This new building adjoins Mr. Ingledue's old building on the corner of Broadway and Glendale avenue. Upon the expiration in three years of the lease on the old building, Mr. Ingledue intends erecting a new and larger building.

Concrete Men Hold Big Meeting Here

and giving his name, business and city.

The outstanding speech of the evening, "Making Concrete Beautiful," was delivered by William Lee Woollett, noted Los Angeles architect, who designed and supervised construction of Grauman's Metropolitan theatre of that city.

"Concrete is the building material of today," he declared. "The more concrete we use, the less wood will be required for building purposes and the more trees will be spared. In walking through your beautiful Glendale tonight, I was impressed with your cool, tree-lined streets, glorious in the moonlight. We must preserve such beauty as this."

Gradual Evolution
"When I look back, I realize that the use of building materials has been a gradual evolution of textures. Once the smooth, even-toned, conventional brick was considered the thing. Today ruffled brick in off tones is coming to the front, with a resultant softening of skylines that is most pleasing."

"We are learning to do the thing the natural way, as primitive peoples did. Many an old Roman building, made of concrete, still stands today. Concrete has been employed as a building material since the dawn of civilization, in one form or another."

"A decided change is now noticeable in the exterior and interior finish of buildings. Whereas formerly concrete was used merely as the backbone, filling in between the steel girders, to be covered with marble or stone on the outside and plaster on the inside, today we are learning to reveal concrete and beautify it, instead of concealing it."

Tells Development
Frank M. Brooks, vice-president of the Art Concrete works of Pasadena, talked on "Architectural Concrete Stone," tracing the development of modern concrete from use in small homes to its present employment in the construction of large buildings, quoting as examples of buildings made largely of concrete the Philharmonic auditorium and University club buildings of Los Angeles, Stanford university at Palo Alto, and large structures in such eastern universities as Yale, Princeton and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Very interesting motion pictures of the famous Pittsburgh road tests were shown by Lloyd Aldrich of Glendale, consulting highway engineer of Los Angeles, who supervised the tests, under the auspices of the Columbia Steel company, the United States bureau of public roads, the California highway commission and the Automobile Club of Southern California.

From these tests, covering a period of many months, under practically all possible road conditions, a vast amount of information was gained, which will be of great value in future road building.

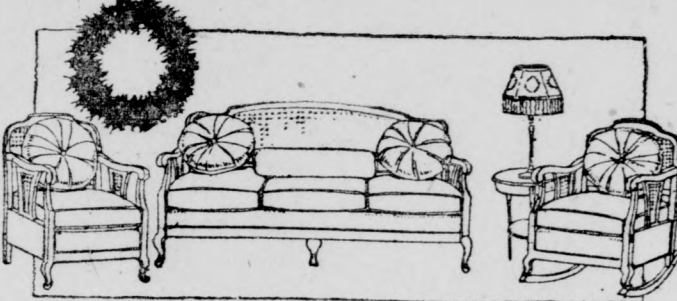

Of the thirteen various types of construction tried out, the pictures revealed that nine held up with varying degrees of satisfaction, while four sections failed utterly to stand the strain.

"Nothing but Concrete"

Other numbers on the program were an address by James C. Hanley, sales manager of the Jencks Brick company, on "Concrete Face Brick;" A. O. Malone, president of the California Stucco Products, on "Stucco, Portland or Magnesite?" and H. A. Van Norman, engineering expert now engaged in the construction of the Los Angeles outfall sewer, on "Problems of Sewer Construction."

THE GLENDALE

In "Soft Boiled," the new Tom Mix drama offered at the Glendale theatre, the handy-fisted westerner fights, abandons chaps and sombrero for second-hand checks and horn-rimmed spectacles.

In the role of a shoe clerk, although more accustomed to shoeing horses, Mix presents one of the most ludicrous characterizations of his career, proving his ability as a comedian with his first attempt.

A rollicking love story forms the basis for "Soft Boiled," with Billie Dove playing opposite the popular William Fox star. In the course of the story, Tom, portraying a quick-tempered young man named Steele, finds himself forced into running a risqué roadhouse.

A bevy of beautiful and scantily-clad girls vie with a masked dancer for interest in this sequence, and Tom and Billie step out on the light fantastic in the ensemble chorus.

THE GATEWAY

"The French Doll," featuring Mae Murray, is the chief attraction at the Gateway theatre today. In excellence of characterization, as well as in the star's individuality so splendidly portrayed, it excels, offering a Parisian atmosphere decidedly spicy.

A Metro picture, presented by Robert Z. Leonard, who is Miss Murray's husband, it tells the story of a chic little French maiden who is used by her unscrupulous parents to sell spurious second-hand furniture. They bring her to the United States, where she helps them clean up on the ignorant newly rich—until, inadvertently, she falls in love with the Canned Fish King.

"The French Doll" is swift in action and delightful in humor throughout, alive with Miss Murray's vivid charm. Her gorgeous adventures will make the picture a favorite of her legion of admirers.

PAINT

What will a Driving Rain do to Your Porch?

WATER quickly turns ordinary varnish white. A sudden shower may ruin the finish on your porch furniture—unless it is finished with Waterspar.

Pitcairn Waterspar Varnish is waterproof. Its beauty is permanent because Waterspar is proof against snow, rain or leaky radiators. At the same time its use on furniture, floors or woodwork assures you of a rich, lustrous finish.

We have Pitcairn Waterspar colored varnish and enamels in eighteen attractive colors, and in just the right size package for your needs.

Nation Should Give Aid To States In Education Problems, Asserts Writer

By MATTISON B. JONES
Written for The Evening News

Is the education of the youth of the country a problem of the states only or is it a problem to be solved by co-operation upon the part of the several states and the nation?

There was introduced in the last Congress of the United States what is known as the Towner-Sterling bill, which appropriates periodically $100,000,000 for educational purposes to supplement the funds of the several states on a co-operative plan of removing the pall of illiteracy that hangs over the American people.

The bill further provides for the creation of a Department of Education, with its head a member of the president's cabinet. This bill in no respect interferes with the several states in the work of their public schools as it explicitly provides as follows: "All the educational facilities encouraged by the provisions of this act and accepted by a state, shall be organized, supervised and administered exclusively by the legally constituted state and local educational authorities of said state."

Language could not make the bill more explicit in respect to the fact that the nation does not desire to organize, supervise or administer the funds appropriated by the nation, which means that the nation recognizes that the education of the citizenship of the several states is primarily a state problem, and in no sense a national problem, except from the viewpoint that the nation, out of its great treasury, is willing to supplement the weakness of the several states to the end that the percentage of illiteracy in the nation as a whole, may be greatly lessened. In our enthusiasm as Americans, we would like to believe that the literacy education leads the world; but the tragic fact is that the United States occupies the tenth place, as shown by the following table of facts:

COUNTRY	ILLITERACY
Germany.....	0.1
Switzerland.....	0.5
Netherlands.....	0.6
Finland.....	0.9
Norway.....	1.0
Sweden.....	1.0
Scotland.....	3.5
France.....	4.9
England.....	5.8
United States.....	6.0

From Great Men
George Washington laid the cornerstone of our great system of public education in the following words: "The time has come when a system of universal education ought to be adopted in the United States. In a country governed by the sense of the community, the people must be enlightened."
Benjamin Franklin, speaking of the young nation said, "Education is essential to supply succeeding ages with men qualified to serve the public."
Abraham Lincoln, at a later period in the life of the Republic, declared, "Public education is the most important thing in which we, the people, are engaged."

According to the 1920 United States Census, approximately 10,000,000 children live in rural territory, of which number 9,000,000 are enrolled in the schools. There are 190,000 one-room schools in this country, in which are enrolled approximately 4,000,000 children. Dr. John J. Tigert, United States Commissioner of Education says: "The average city school is open 182 days in the year, the average rural school is open 142 days in the year."

In New York state, out of a total of 8,400 teachers in one-teacher schools, not more than 420 have had the amount of preparation generally agreed upon as the least acceptable minimum for elementary teachers. One of the most serious phases of the country school problem, in the inadequate preparation of the teachers, whose good intentions and public spirit, however, are beyond question.

Meets Approval
The condition cited in the state of New York is more or less general throughout the nation, which means that the states have not adequately met the question of educating their youth. It is wise, therefore, that the nation shall supplement the work of the states through state channels and state authorities? We think the question, upon due and adequate consideration, can be answered only in the affirmative. When the Department of Commerce and the Department of Labor were first proposed, objections were made; nevertheless, the departments were organized, have functioned well, and the one-time most skeptical would not now favor the removal of either of these departments. Is the commerce of our country a greater asset than the youth of the land? The American public school is of greater importance than the markets, counting houses and factories. In the American Public School throbs the heart of the nation, for here are the men and women of tomorrow. As well said by Dr. George Drayton Strayer, Professor of Educational Administration in Columbia University, in his advocacy of the Towner-Sterling bill:

"It is a sound doctrine that proposes that the wealth of the nation be put back of the education of all its children. It would be as ridiculous to think of attaching the question of providing an army and navy to the individual states, as it is to think that the support of education is to be thought of wholly as a state affair. In recent years, our national government has come into our states and taken from them their most fruitful sources of revenue, while leaving them the most expensive functions of government."
Doubtless the Towner-Sterling bill will be introduced in the next Congress, and it is to be hoped that the bill, or some similar bill, will meet with the approval of the Congress and of the president.

SAFETY FIRST

Dorothy Doane, Glendale Avenue
One of the safety first rules that is most important and yet disregarded by the majority of people is that of the highway. These rules are continually held in our memory by the many terrible accidents, but, forgetting these, we immediately do the thing that so many people have lost their lives doing. A week is set off every year for the purpose of helping us to remember safety first. The schools write compositions on it, and people talk of it, and for that week we take a little more care. After that it slips our memory until brought up again in some more emphatic way.

Besides the multitude of highway accidents, there are many others. One of these is the danger from fire. Great forest fires, often destroying areas of valuable timber and many lives, are caused by carelessness. Not long ago a large fire swept the hills surrounding this town. Acres of mountain land were laid waste and many homes destroyed. Other homes were threatened and the occupants had to flee for their lives. All this was caused by one man's carelessness.

Another way in which accidents are caused is the carelessness in throwing banana peelings, nails, refuse, and so forth. Pedestrians are generally the victims of such carelessness. Many people are injured yearly by stepping on banana peelings or rusty nails which have been thrown down by careless people.

Instead of letting these accidents grow more numerous, we all hope, by reminding people of safety first, we may prevent future accidents.

THRIFT

Margaret Pitzer, Wilson Avenue
There are many people who do not know the value of money. How to make it, save it, and spend it is perhaps one of the best tests of practical wisdom.

Some of the finest qualities of human nature are intimately related to the right use of money. The earning and saving of money is important, but investing or investing money properly is essential.

The greatest things that have been done for the world have not been accomplished by rich men, but by men of small means. Lincoln, for instance, rose from a very poor boy. Once in his life he walked several miles to give a lady a few cents change.

The youth who inherits wealth is apt to have life made too easy for him, and he soon grows tired of it, because he has nothing to desire.

The making of a fortune may, no doubt, enable some people to "enter society," as it is so called; but to be esteemed there they must possess qualities of mind, manners or heart, else they are merely rich people, nothing more.

THE FLAG

By Elsie Forsythe
Junior Class, High School
Nations and religions have always had emblems. Emblems should bring to the mind and heart an appreciation of the ideals and sacrifices they symbolize.
The American nation has its emblem in the flag. To many of us the flag is something to be raised at sunrise and lowered at sunset, something to be spoken of with reverence and to be saluted. This is the extent of our patriotism. There is no real appreciation of what the flag stands for. When a symbol is worshipped it loses its value. A man once said, when asked if he loved his country: "I don't have to. I love the thing it stands for. I love my wife lots better than I do my wedding certificate."

GOOD SPORTSMANSHIP

Eugene Baldwin, Pacific Avenue
A school is always judged by the way it stands with the other schools. If a school is good in athletics it is always good in everything else. The game should be played fair and don't say the referee is wrong, because you may be wrong yourself. Always take the place your captain gives you. Each position has a part in the game.

If you are beaten the first time, don't get discouraged. Practice a little harder. And don't laugh at the other side if you win. Cheer them up and don't brag about yourself. If you stay with the rule you will be able to play better. The training will make you a better citizen.

Oxy Students Mourn Passing of Friends

The students and faculty of Occidental college are mourning the loss of several very dear friends of the institution. Mrs. William Meade Orr, wife of Dr. Orr, prominent trustee and generous benefactor of Occidental, passed away a few days ago after a short illness.

The father of Miss Sarah Lindsey was called by death suddenly last week. Last Monday night Miss Ida Uzzelle, prominent member of the class of 1923, and beloved friend of all the students, was instantly killed in an automobile accident. Her death will be greatly regretted by every member of the Occidental family. Miss Uzzelle, who lives at 1122 Meridian avenue, South Pasadena, was leading lady on the senior class play, the Greek Media.

Shaw Botanical Garden at St. Louis is the largest midland assemblage of trees.

Brings Auto Load of Children to Services

An interesting incident of the service Sunday at the Tropic Presbyterian church was a visit from Miss Phoebe Snell of the Community Service work at Monrovia, who brought a "Fordful" of her charges to visit the Sunday school. Ten children occupied the Ford, which Glendale assisted in purchasing for Miss Snell, who is a Glendale girl, to use in her work among the Mexicans. Four hymns were sung in Spanish by the little visitors.

CAUSES SENSATION

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—"Senator Johnson's announcement has created a sensation here in New York and throughout the east," said George Henry Payne, editor of "The Forum." New York, in a telegram given out here yesterday afternoon by Frank R. Havenner, secretary of the Northern California Roosevelt League.

Girls Win Places on Oxy Debating Teams

The women of Occidental college held tryouts for the women's debating teams last Tuesday. Many girls turned out for the contest, and nine were chosen to represent the associated women students in inter-conference debating this season. This year's squad will consist of the following: Nova Lund, Faith McCracken, Lillian Zellhoefer, Helen Sherwood, Ruby Alice McDonald, Grace Smith, Esther Pritchard and Genevieve Miller.

Professory Lindsley of the English department at Oxy is coaching the girls. There is some remarkable material on hand and with a little coaching, a championship team can be developed. The question that the girls will debate on in all their conference contests is: "Resolved, That the United States should at once grant complete independence to the Philippine Islands."

FIRST PHASE OF CAMPAIGN ENDING

Three More Working Days
Left in First Period to Get
Highest Credits

By J. A. MALCOLM
Salesmanship Club Manager
Just three more days. Count them. Thursday, Friday and Saturday, of the first period of The Glendale Evening News, big salesmanship campaign. Just three days in which to secure the greatest number of credits on subscriptions. Saturday night marks the closing of the first period and this means the end of high credits, which have been given during the past few weeks.
The next three days are the most important in the salesmanship campaign as the subscriptions you turn in this week, will be worth a great deal more to you than those turned in next week, so if you have any subscription promised, be sure and get them this week, right now, lest you forget some one who promised to give you their subscription later. Do not let the next three days pass without putting forth a greater effort than ever before, for it (Continued on page 6)

Society Circus Financial Report Very Pleasing to Tuesday Afternoon Club

By KATHERINE VIRGINIA SINKS
Of The Evening News Staff

Final report by Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, who is recognized among club women as a wizard on ways and means, showing that the society circus staged last Friday and Saturday by the Tuesday Afternoon club at the clubhouse, brought in $3,920.93 and that after $754.20 debts were paid $3,166.93 was cleared by the club, was the big feature of the regular club gathering yesterday.

Prefacing her report with hearty appreciation for the wonderful co-operative spirit shown by the clubwomen, and especially thanking the club officers, chairmen of committees and curators of sections, Mrs. Montgomery presented a detailed report of the financial results of the circus.

When she had finished, the clubwomen rose in a body to applaud her, and she received a most complimentary ovation.

Financial Report

The various amounts realized at the booths and concessions were:

Aprons, $253.85; arts and crafts, section A, $300.05; kandy box, $101.70; check room, $23.05; cooked food, $93.33; dance, $51.50; home economics, $111.25; dolls, $79.61; fancywork, $86.31; fish pond, $46; goose, $26.65; Comalt, $29.07; hope chest, $302; information, $6.97; handkerchiefs, $195.50; midway and hot dogs, $142.10; hospitality, $221.61; book shop, $61.04; parcel post, $73.15; door, $51.80.

To these amounts was added the price for the Ford car, which was won by Mrs. S. W. Jamieson of 921 Matilija road, who returned it to the club, making the final amount cleared $3,166.93.

Luncheon Speakers

Before the club meeting the club members and guests had a 12:30 o'clock luncheon in the banquet room, where Superintendent Richardson D. White, Mrs. W. (Continued on page 6)

SCHOOL'S SYSTEM ON HONOR BASIS

Fair Play First Requisite in Glendale Athletics, Says
Professor Moysse

"We want the men and women of Glendale to stand behind the boys and girls who are attending the city schools and to show them that they are interested in the progress that the young folks are making, not only in their studies but in every other department of their school life," declared Prof. George U. Moysse, speaking on National Education Week before the directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce at their luncheon yesterday at the Glendale Tavern on San Fernando road.

Professor Moysse went on to say that the Glendale football teams that have won so much distinction for their school and for Glendale this season have been built up on a system that is designed to appeal to the honor of the boys and that places fair play before every other consideration. "We have not attempted to build up our teams with the one idea of winning (Continued on page 6)

STUDENTS CROWD AT WATER SCHOOL

Guests at House Warming
See New Building Taxed
to Utmost Capacity

The first meeting of the Atwater Parent-Teachers' association in the new school building was in the nature of a house warming and "Fathers' Night" combined, and a capacity house last night marked this happy occasion.

The new building, which is of reinforced concrete construction, is two stories and basement and was first planned to be an eight-room building, but the rapid growth in this territory made it necessary to make it a twelve-room building and before it has been occupied a month it is necessary to use one of the bungalows for a class room and fit up two others for domestic science and sloyd rooms.

At the meeting Tuesday evening the parents and guests were shown over the building by the teachers and members of the Parent-Teachers' association.

Rooms Are Attractive

The office with substantial oak furniture is most attractive with hangings and draperies of blue and gold. The kindergarten rooms have hangings of monks' cloth bordered with orange which give the wanted color to the French gray finish of woodwork and lockers. Another class room has hangings at the windows of old rose.

In every way the building has many unique features which places it out of the ordinary bare school room.

To the teaching staff and the members of the Parent-Teachers' association is due the credit of making possible a number of these features.

The auditorium in which the exercises of the evening were held is formed by throwing together the kindergarten rooms and replacing the kindergarten chairs with folding chairs. The platform was decorated with palms and ferns and baskets of blue corn flowers combined with marigolds which further carried out the orange color scheme of the room.

This room was filled to capacity with parents and friends and a large overflow meeting for children was held in one of the upper class rooms where a picture show was given for their entertainment.

Guests of Honor

Special guests of the evening were Mrs. Susan M. Dorsey, superintendent of Los Angeles city schools, who brought greetings and congratulations, and Mayo Thomas, of Los Angeles, who gave the address of the evening.

Mrs. E. V. Bacon, president of the Atwater association, presided, and presented the speakers and the program of the evening in a very happy manner.

An interesting pupils' program had been prepared by the principal, Miss Gates, and was as follows: Piano solo, "Eustie or Spring," by Olga Palladino; dance, "The Kiss of Spring," by Bernardine Keen; song, "Flag Song," by the fourth grade; dance, "The Coquette," by Edna Le Point; song, "A Song for the Flag," boys' and girls' glee clubs; Russian dance, "Kamarinka," Marian Stadler; piano solo, "Prelude in C Minor," by Olga Palladino.

Miss Gates extended greetings to the parents and guests from the teachers and Mrs. Bacon spoke of the Parent-Teachers' association in providing the motion picture machine, screen, new records in addition to the victrola purchased last year, and other attractive features of the school.

Fruit punch and waters were served by the hospitality committee.

Students Injured in Playing Field Crash

Eugene Lindgren of 431 West Lexington drive is absent from his studies at high school and Richey Jones, of 376 West Lexington, appeared in classes with an interesting looking patch over his left eye yesterday as a result of a collision that occurred when the boys were engaged in football practice on the athletic field.

The two students were making an attempt to tackle a third, when he slipped out from between them and they met in a "head on" collision.

Eugene received the blow almost in the center of one eye and some uneasiness was felt at first as to whether the sight might not be impaired but the attending physician is now pronouncing it to be not serious. He will not be able to use it for a few days, however. Richey's left eyebrow was split, necessitating surgical attention.

Dr. J. E. Eckles is the physician in charge.

Special Services for Children of St. Mark's

A special service is to be held next Sunday morning at St. Mark's Episcopal church for the Little Helpers of the parish. Mrs. John Cate, leader of the Little Helpers, will be in charge and the service will begin at 9:30 o'clock. Deaconess Clark will tell the children of the work in China, and Mrs. Reifsnider will tell of the Little Helpers in Japan.

The Little Helpers are all children in the parish who are not old enough to attend Sunday school.

Chewing Gum of War Time Vintage Recalls Ancient History to Kirk's Party

"Heidelberg, Germany," is the greeting at the top of the Kirk travel letter today. Mr. Kirk wrote this letter in Heidelberg, October 22, and the many Glendalians who have eagerly awaited hearing from him from Germany will read the following with interest:

W.B. KIRK

"The last New York paper we bought had no further mention of your bad forest fire so we suppose it was permanently put out. We sincerely hope that the damage has been very much less than was first reported and perhaps, very largely overdrawn.

"We have reached a country that is full of troubles and we can't escape a realization of it. But let me tell you an experience. As a good American family we like to chew a little gum occasionally as a digestant, but we find it very hard to obtain in Europe. When we were in Lugano I inquired of an 'Apotheker' for some gum and he said he was out of it but would have some at 4:30 that afternoon.

"He showed me a stock box of 'Doublemint' and I told him that was the kind. When I went to get it he had received only some Adam's pepsin, so I bought three packages of it at twelve cents a package. When I proudly presented it to the family, the daughter, on examining it, read printed on the back of one package, 'Buy a Liberty Bond and help win the war,' on another, 'Our boys over there depend upon you, buy War Saving Stamps.' The gum tastes as old as it was. Where do you suppose that gum had been all these years?

Results of World War

"As I have told you, the results of the war have been very much less in evidence over here, than I had ever imagined. In England, the war was mentioned only occasionally, and in France and other countries, the language forbade discussion of any subject, with most people, but in Germany we can't escape a realization of it or its consequent troubles.

"I am not going to discuss the right or wrong of the reparations question, as I see it, not now. I will merely give you the story of our travels over here, for two or three weeks, trying to portray conditions as I find them, faithfully and accurately.

"Our 'ingang' into Germany, at Basel, was without incident. The young man who inspected our baggage, merely glanced into one grip, asked if there was only clothing in the others, no jewelry, no merchandise and 'okayed' the four of them without further examination.

Tickets Are Punched

"Our tickets, however, were punched at five different gates before we were finally aboard. Our cold snap has been broken by warm rains and we are having comfortable temperatures. Our ride, of little more than an hour, to Freiburg in Baden, was through good country. The buildings and farms are not as well kept up as in Suisse, but they aren't anywhere else, either, for that matter.

"The towns are substantially built and the crops, cattle and goats look good. We saw several tame deer feeding with the goats. The farmers are doing their fall plowing, and use oxen largely. Sometimes a horse and a steer are worked together. They seem to be able to fit a collar on the ox. (Continued on page 6)

PICK DELEGATES FOR CONVENTION

Glendale Hi-Y Boys Will Go to Pomona Conference for Three Days

By NEAL E. SOOY
Of The Evening News Staff
Glendale will be well represented in the coming annual Older Boys' Conference, which is to be held at Pomona from November 30 to December 2. Twenty-five boys from the local Hi-Y division were picked to attend the convention by the Hi-Y cabinet which convened yesterday noon for that purpose.

The Older Boys' Conference is an annual event with the Y. M. C. A. Last year it was held in San Diego, with about 500 boys present. On account of this large number, the representatives have been cut down to 400 this year, which will enable the hosts to take better care of the delegates.

The theme of the conference this year will be "The Message of the Torch." Several well-known speakers will be at the convention (Continued on page 5)

Are You Using this Free Service?

It comes with every sack of cement. It has been made possible through the Portland Cement Association by the eighty-six cement manufacturers who are its members.

They realized that important research and educational work was necessary to give people the best information on how to use cement. They also realized that this could be done better by unified effort than by any individual company alone.

As a result, you may have for the asking the benefit of this Association's long and exhaustive studies on how best to use cement for the most satisfactory results in concrete construction.

Whatever use you plan to make of cement—whether you are building a concrete hog house or concrete dairy barn, a stretch of concrete walk or a concrete road, a silo or a skyscraper, a home, workshop or a factory—you needn't guess. You can know.

If you want information about the usefulness of concrete under certain conditions, how to mix or place it to get the greatest value out of every sack of cement—you can get it by writing any one of our 28 offices listed below.

Supplying dependable information without charge by booklet, by letter or by personal conference when necessary, is the work of this Association. Millions of helpful booklets, covering a multitude of uses of concrete, are distributed annually to people who know they needn't guess—who know they can get the facts from us.

One of our new booklets, "Concrete in Home Sanitation," will surprise you with the number of easy ways in which concrete can be used to make the home healthier and happier. Address our nearest district office for your free copy.

EAGLE ROCK

NEED BOND ISSUE FOR NEW SCHOOL

L. A. Superintendent's Ruling Postpones Erection of Desired Structure

Possibilities of locating a new high school in the Occidental-York valley section have been postponed perhaps two years by the decision of Mrs. Susan Dorsey, superintendent of Los Angeles schools, that a bond issue will be required before such a structure can be erected.

Thus expires the hope that has already burned for two years in the hearts of residents in this district. The plan for such a high school has been included in the platforms of several local organizations, at one time or another, but all have been forced to abandon it in the end, as does the Occidental-York Valley Improvement association now.

Yes, We Have No Trucks!

Plenty of trash but no trucks is the predicament of the Eagle Rock business section at the present time, and has been since the Los Angeles trash collectors failed to remove said debris on November 10, the date advertised by the Clean-up committee of the Chamber of Commerce as the miraculous date upon which—presto, change—such untheatrical and drab manifestations of the human tribe would forthwith vanish.

The women went to the bat on the thing—and struck out. The men, long since cynical by reason of past efforts to get anyone to do anything any time, anywhere, merely smile. To them it is "old stuff."

Meanwhile said trash, unlike the darkey of whom it was claimed he thought too, merely sits! The city of Los Angeles, of course, collects garbage, ashes and the like, but refuses to roughen its lily fingers with anything combustible, 'tis said.

In fact, 'tis said by Donnell G. Montgomery, secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce, who is in receipt of a letter from the Los Angeles officials notifying him that only non-combustible domestic rubbish will be carried away.

Now will not some small boy volunteer to step forward with his little express wagon and cart this truck away, that is working everybody up into a fever hereabout?

Don't Change Street Names

Attention is called once more to the fact that the new street nomenclature is not effective until about the middle of December, or thirty days after the ordinance is first published.

The new names should not be used on mail, nor should business men employ them in advertisements, until so notified, as a great deal of confusion will result.

PROBLEMS UP TO NEW C. C. BOARD

Retiring Directors Ask Support for Members Chosen At Coming Election

The big problems confronting the Burbank Chamber of Commerce will be left to the new board that comes in following the election of January 24, 1924, was the evident attitude of the directors at their last meeting.

This means that the matter of a permanent secretary will doubtless be passed on to the new board. Owing to the fact that the by-laws call for the election at so late a date as the above, a plan was evolved whereby a vote could be held at the meeting of December 3, to amend the by-laws, which if passed would provide for election of directors at the same time.

It is hoped by the directors that when the new board is elected it will have behind it the solid backing of the community, as no efforts of any magnitude for the upbuilding of Burbank can be accomplished without concerted action.

Report on Street Work

The following progress on city street work is reported by Engineer F. Curt Miller; oil macadam work has been begun on Cedar street, between San Fernando boulevard and First street; the work on Providencia avenue, between Sunset Canyon drive and Tenth street, is practically finished and improvement of this thoroughfare from Crescent street to the boulevard is under way; and work will be undertaken on Verdugo avenue below San Fernando boulevard as soon as possible.

It is further reported by Mr. Miller that water pipe is being laid in the Newcomer tract, bounded by Crescent, Lake, Spitzer and Linden streets; and in the Summer tract, on Central avenue.

Institute Lecture Good

A highly interesting illustrated lecture was held Monday afternoon at the Burbank High school, under the auspices of the second Teachers' institute of this year, the subject being, "When Flowers Go A-Courting," the lecturer, Francis M. Fultz, is widely known as a naturalist through his lectures and articles in Los Angeles papers.

The auditorium was well filled and many scores of representatives of the general public supplemented the teachers present.

In the morning there was another lecture session, this being of a more technical nature. Principal Moore expresses himself as delighted with the success of these institutes.

TODAY—Judge Ben Lindsey "Indicts" Colorado; Refuses to Betray Girls Who Tricked Him.

By MICHAEL F. DACEY
By International News Service

DENVER, Nov. 21.—Whether a determined effort will be made to establish a birth control clinic in this city may be decided following a conference scheduled soon between Ben Lindsey, famous juvenile court judge of Denver, and Mrs. Margaret Sanger, of New York, who will deliver an address before the Open Forum here early this month.

Mrs. Sanger will confer with Judge Lindsey on child welfare questions during her visit to the city.

Judge Lindsey's first mention of the establishing of a Denver center for distribution of contraceptive information came following a controversy with the Denver County Grand Jury, before which the judge was subpoenaed after he had made the open charge that illegal operations had cut the birth rate of this city in two during the past year. He said, also, that there were probably 1,000,000 illegal operations in the United States annually.

Judge Lindsey refused to give names of high school girls and married women whom he said, had in confidence revealed the extent of these alleged operations. The juvenile judge appeared before the Grand Jury with an armload of surgical instruments, compounds, pills, etc., which he declared, had been given him by young girls who had submitted to illegal operations.

Rumors that the Grand Jury or District Attorney would take action against Judge Lindsey for his refusal to answer specific questions put to him by the jurors have not been confirmed, although District Attorney Philip Van Cise has admitted that "some action is contemplated."

In his fight against illegal operations Judge Lindsey has appeared before the City Council and also personally appealed to Mayor Ben Stapleton for an appropriation that would enable him to put into effect the maternity law, passed by the last Legislature, which provides that financial aid shall be given to needy mothers six months before and six months after the birth of a child, whether the mother is married or unmarried. Judge Lindsey received some encouragement from Mayor Stapleton, but funds have not been made available as yet.

In an open letter to the Denver County Grand Jury, issued the day before he entered the jury room, Judge Lindsey declared: "In view of the fact that there are, in my judgment, undoubtedly 1,000,000 such offenses (illegal operations) in this country, and at least 1,000 in Denver annually, I am more than pleased to know that the welfare of those millions of murdered babies engages your attention. We have been working for years in the juvenile court to bring about some practical, constructive remedy against this slaughter of infants."

Judge Lindsey wrote the jury that he could be of little assistance to them "if your purpose is to have me betray the confidences of women and girls who come to the domestic relations and juvenile court for help."

"Notwithstanding the proven futility of criminal statutes," Judge Lindsey wrote, "we have a remedy for this evil in society. I know you want to do something really constructive, so I am asking you to consider some of the following remedies which have been urged by earnest, honest, sincere, Christian people:

"The question of dissemination of information concerning what is known as birth control; that is, in proper cases to prevent the conception of children, most of whom are only conceived to be murdered before they are born, or handed over to the mercies of disease, poverty and ignorance after they are born."

"More education about life in homes and schools, and a real attitude of Christ in churches instead of the stone throwers among hypocrites there."

"A communal interest and understanding of the problem of a thousand murdered children every year in Denver."

"A change of the merciless attitude of society which would punish certain women for having children and then be so utterly stupid as to expect them not to resort to illegal operations."

Judge Lindsey pointed out to the jury the existence of the maternity law, under which any child once conceived and in "danger of murder or assassination before it is born," may be saved that fate by the State's offer to the mother to pay all expenses incurred through the circumstances of such birth for six months before and six months after it is born, and even such times in addition to the six months as that child is imperiled by its three greatest enemies—fear, poverty and ignorance.

Judge Lindsey also urged a campaign among the people by which there may be such education as to the truth about society "that will change the present stupid, asinine attitude toward the child whose mother has no husband."

Judge Lindsey concluded his open letter to the jury by declaring that his principal purpose in appearing before the body would be to urge these indictments:

1. "Against the State of Colorado for any asinine legislation that forbids the dissemination of the truth about birth control under proper auspices and in proper cases."
2. "Against the public officials who think more of dollars than of babies."
3. "Against those schools and churches that have so miserably failed in their opportunity to do constructive work through real education and real religion."
4. "Against all society in general for its cruel and outrageous indifference to the value of childhood, as against the value of poisonous gases, battleships and munitions, and hate and war and fear and the force of violence."

Select Delegates for Pomona Convention

to talk on the topic. Chief among these are "Fighting Bob" Shuler, Dr. W. F. Fox of Pasadena, Dr. Remsen D. Bird, president of Occidental college; Leon V. Shaw, prominent Y worker in Pasadena, and several other members of the California laymen. Glendale is also especially honored in having Arlin McCormick one of the six boy speakers at the convention.

Grid Game Feature

The delegates will leave some time Friday in time to get to Pomona for the big opening supper party to be held at the high school. From then on there will be something doing every minute, whether it is physical, mental or spiritual. One of the important entertainments will be a football game between the freshman and sophomore classes of the Southern high school which will be held Saturday afternoon. The Y. M. C. A. building will be thrown open to the visitors, and the swimming pool is expected to be in use a good deal.

The delegates will room with the residents of Pomona and will also get their breakfast in the homes. The rest of the meals will be provided by the Y. M. C. A. and will probably be served in the high school.

Thirty boys have been chosen to be the Glendale delegates, but only the first twenty-five to register and pay the $2.00 registration fee will be the select few, with the other five as alternates. The ones who have been selected are: Laufman Jeter, Marion Morrison, Charles Thompson, Richard Ryan, Theodore Haig, Lee Payne, Arlin McCormick, Angelo Brucker, Bob Hatch, Floyd Craft, Robert Eastman, Dallas Kallabough, Alex McDougall, Lyle McAllister, Neal Sooy, Kenneth Lee, John Heideman, Harold Rhodes, Irvin Carver, Harold Heacock, Jack Thayer, Harold Jones, Forest Krug, Lyle Wheeler, Porter Thompson, Howard Rettberg, Arthur Barton, Fred Appleton, Richard Bickenback, John Hablick.

STEEL MAGNATE ADMITS LOANS

Chas. M. Schwab Wanted To Avoid Publicity

Mrs. Myrtle B. Hayes and, inset, Charles M. Schwab. He admits he loaned her money.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—With the same humorous touch to his remarks and the same frankness that has made him an interesting figure in the world of serious "big business" men and a popular at dinner speaker, Charles M. Schwab, steel magnate, is now calmly laying before the public vestige of a skeleton may lurk in the Schwab closet.

To date, on the stand in the hearing before a referee in bankruptcy, he has told without hesitancy, that he loaned Mrs. Myrtle B. Hayes various amounts of money over a period of twenty years, rather than draw publicity, which she believed might place an erroneous construction on his acquaintance with the former, now a middle aged woman.

Mrs. Hayes is now under indictment on a charge of forging his endorsement to notes with which she attempted, it is said, to finance a $5,000,000 hotel in Brookline, Mass.

Schwab told frankly how he made the first loan of $2,000 to Mrs. Hayes in 1902, when she was

Miss Myrtle Bowman. "Subsequently she had business difficulties, and went into bankruptcy, and I was told that unless I aided her with further money, there would be publicity and comment, which would be unfavorable," he said. "I made the mistake of even considering that end of it. No man, however, likes that kind of publicity."

He told how he heeded the plea of "a funny little Irishman," and on his word alone, phoned his bankers to loan the man $10,000 until the man could get his money out of the hotel project. Asked why he did not make another loan direct to a contractor on the job instead of through his bankers, he replied smilingly that "many people think when they owe me money they don't have to pay it."

He denies, however, that he had any interest in Mrs. Hayes' business deals.

Discussing the case off the stand, Schwab said with a sigh: "My only misfortunes have come through misguided kindness to others."

Timely Views on World Topics

"EUROPE'S DIPLOMACY SHAPED NOT TO ADAPT TO EXISTING PEOPLES OF VARIOUS COUNTRIES"

"None other than the Omnipotent knows whether the Ruhr situation may precipitate another world conflagration as destructive as the last war," declared Gov. John J. Blaine, of Wisconsin, in a recent address before the German Club of Chicago.

"And what are the interests involved in that contest? Identical I think those which have been involved in many recent contests," he continued. "Oil in Mexico; oil, not for the benefit of America, but oil for the benefit of international exploiters, disturbed our peace with Mexico until its recent recognition. Oil in western Asia—that was the struggle of Great Britain, France, and Turkey."

"In the Ruhr, steel, iron, coal—ah! there's the rub! Poincare, the attorney for the French steel magnates; Stresemann's connections I know not, but it is very clear that, with the industrial situation in Great Britain, behind the scenes, the steel, iron and coal magnates of France, Germany, and Great Britain—with the part played by the United States steel trust unknown—the diplomacy of Europe is shaped. For whom? The peoples of those nations? No! That diplomacy is all exercised in the interests of exploitation of the peoples of those nations."

"Today America's diplomacy and international policy is a drifting one. It is a policy of watchful waiting. It promises nothing for the future but the possibility of future wars—wars with which we should have no concern, but into which we are doomed to be dragged, because of our shiftless international policies."

"American re-establish her traditional doctrine for international relationship without the consent of a single nation, and then, for the purpose of protecting the American continent, both north and south, against the aggressive and imperialist of Europe, a defensive force on land and sea will be the great antidote against wars and with the re-establishment of that doctrine never again will it be necessary for an American soldier or sailor, to leave the threshold of his country in the pursuit of protecting his country."

"America's international policy

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE TOY ENGINE

"Bing! Bang! Bang!" rattled loud knocks on the door of Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow, one morning.

"That sounds like a telegram message!" said Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, who was washing the dishes.

"It's Johnnie Bushytail, one of the squirrel boys," Uncle Wiggily answered, as he looked out of a side window, and saw who was on the front steps. "It's Johnnie, and he seems to be in a hurry."

"Perhaps his brother Billie's tail is stiff and can't be wagged," suggested Nurse Jane.

"Oh, I hope not," spoke Uncle Wiggily, as he opened the door to let Johnnie in. And when the squirrel boy with the bushy tail had scamped inside the hollow stump bungalow, he put something down on the table.

"Goodness!" cried Nurse Jane. "I hope that isn't Billie's tail coming out the way off!"

"No, it isn't a tail at all," chattered Johnnie, as he took off his fur mittens, for it was a cold day outside. "It's my little toy engine locomotive, Uncle Wiggily—that's what it is."

"But why did you stay out of school to bring your toy engine here to Uncle Wiggily?" asked Nurse Jane. "You should be in school, Johnnie."

"I'm going to school, Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy," spoke Johnnie, with a polite little bow, and sweeping up a bit of dust from the floor with his brush of a tail. "But it is early yet and I ran over before school to see if Uncle Wiggily could fix my toy engine."

"What is the matter with it?" asked the bunny gentleman.

"It doesn't go," chattered Johnnie. "I got it last Christmas, and it used to run fine when I wound up the spring. It would chase me all around the room on the floor, my toy engine would. But now it doesn't go."

"Perhaps the spring inside it is broken," said Uncle Wiggily. "I'll take a look, Johnnie."

"Thank you," spoke the squirrel boy. "I hoped you would. Then I can run on to school after you get it fixed."

"But you mustn't play with your toy engine in the class!" warned the muskrat lady housekeeper.

By this time Uncle Wiggily had taken the toy engine out of the paper bag, in which the squirrel boy had carried it from his house. The rabbit gentleman squinted at the toy engine this way, and he squinted at it that way, and then he turned it upside down.

"Clickety click!" went something inside the toy locomotive, and a carpet tack dropped out on the floor.

"Ah! That was the trouble!" laughed the bunny gentleman. "A tack was caught in the wheels and that's why the engine wouldn't go. I think it will be all right now. I'll wind it up and try it."

So Uncle Wiggily turned the twistum jigger and set the little squirrel's toy engine down on the floor of the dining room.

"Whizz-ee-zee-zizzum!" went the toy engine.

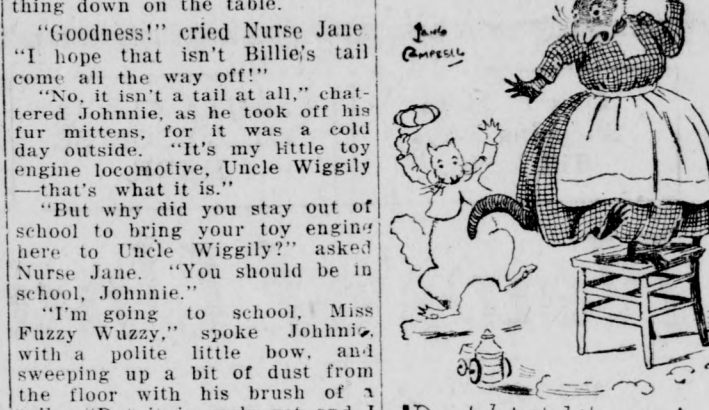

Straight toward Nurse Jane ran the toy engine as fast as a cricket hops.

"Oh! Oh!" screamed the muskrat lady. "Don't let it bite me!"

"For truly the little engine looked like a big bug after Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. 'Don't let it nibble my toes!' she cried. And she was so excited, that she climbed up on a chair as ladies do when a mouse gets in the room. And the toy engine ran around and around in circles, whizzing and banging itself against the legs of chairs.

"Ho! Ho!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "That toy engine seems to be all right, now the tack is out. It runs fine."

"But don't let it run after me any more," begged Nurse Jane. The bunny gentleman laughed, picked up the toy and said he wouldn't let it chase Nurse Jane any more. Then he wound up the spring again, and was just going to set the toy down to give it another try, when, all of a sudden,

"Don't let it bite me!"

"Your toy saved my ears, Johnnie. Thank you."

Then the squirrel boy took his toy engine on to school—but he didn't bring it out in class—so that was all right. And so we come to the end of the story. But if the pepper shaker doesn't sprinkle talcum powder on the chocolate cake and make it turn pale, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the horse chestnuts.

Three Working Days Left in Campaign

all rests with you as to what you will do, and what you do this week will, to a certain extent, decide how you will stand when the final counting has been made on December 20.

Quick Action Needed
The time is slipping fast and action is necessary on your part, to get around to see your friends and others who have promised to give you their subscription. Action is a vital part at this time, and those who devote their time and energy to subscription-getting will be the ones who will eventually carry away the best prizes.

If you are entered in this campaign, with the determination to win, get busy; otherwise someone will be there ahead of you and you will lose out. It's not what you have done in the past that counts so much as what you do during the coming three days, and the matter rests with you and you alone.

After Saturday night, and for the next two weeks, the "second period" schedule of credits will be in effect, which means a material reduction in the value of all subscriptions as far as credits are concerned. The 50,000 extra credits given for each club of $25 turned in, will remain in force throughout the entire campaign and this is the only extra credit offer that will be made during this campaign, so lay your plans accordingly. If your friends advise you to hold back subscriptions, you can readily show them how foolish it would be to do so, for you would only lose that many credits.

During the three remaining days, work and work hard. It's entirely up to you what prize you will win in this campaign, for it takes subscriptions to win, and that is the only way to get the credits.

In many campaigns of like nature, extra or bonus credits are offered during the various periods in order to induce people to buy subscriptions. However, this will not be the case with this campaign, for there will not be any EXTRA CREDIT OFFERS, other than the 50,000 extra credits offered that runs through the entire campaign. Don't forget the first period ends Saturday night.

Tuesday Club Gets Report on Circus

S. Stevens of Long Beach, chairman of conservation of the Los Angeles district, and Mrs. Douglas of the Goodwill Industries, were honored guests and speakers. Other special guests were Miss Winifred Rouzee, instructor of the Bible section; Mrs. W. J. Lawless, president of the Sierra Madre club; Mrs. P. H. Johnson, president of the La Canada club, and Mrs. Fisher, president of the Burbank club.

Richardson D. White spoke in recognition of National Education Week, giving the four main criticisms of the public schools, and speaking in defense of the schools. He prefaced his talk with the statement, "I believe that the observance of a national educational week came into being among the young men who tolerated the service of their country at the beginning of the World war and found themselves handicapped."

He continued with the startling statement that of the 4,000,000 men in the United States service, 750,000 were declared illiterate.

Mrs. Stevens told of the aims of the department of conservation, to save the waterways, the parks and forests.

Mrs. Douglas briefly outlined the organization and purpose of the Goodwill Industries, which, she said, was "Not charity, but a chance." The clubwomen were most interested in the articles she showed that had been fashioned from salvage at the Goodwill Industries' headquarters at 342 North Main street, Los Angeles.

Fair Play Necessary in Local Athletics

ning games, nor have we held out inducements to students of other schools to attend Glendale simply to strengthen our athletic department. Other schools have tried, unsuccessfully, to take away some of our best players, but the honor system under which we are working influenced these boys to refuse the inducements that were held out to them."

Big Industrial Plant
In asking the support of the Chamber of Commerce directors for the work of the school, Professor Moyse pointed out that the schools form one of the biggest bands or escorts. The meeting will be held in the evening in the auditorium, with Geraldine Jacobson giving "Adventures of Lady Ursula."

The next meeting will be December 4, when there will be a luncheon at 12:30 o'clock and a vocal program by Miss Tilda Rohr, accompanied by Mrs. H. R. Boyer.

Mrs. Mary M. Wright, Glendale resident, graduate of Stanford university, member of the Glendale College Women's club and registrar and teacher of history at the Cumbeck School of Expression in Los Angeles, will give current events.

Bandit Escapes With $5000 in Bank Holdup

DAYTON, O., Nov. 21.—An unmasked bandit entered a branch of the Dayton Savings and Loan company yesterday and escaped with $5,000.

With a large automatic drawn, he went from window to window and forced the various tellers to dump what currency was on their counters into a bag.

Industrial enterprises in the city today, with the grammar schools spending $500,000 this year and the high school $600,000, with the latter having 100 people on its payroll and the former a total of 126 people.

The new high school, Professor Moyse stated, will be ready to be turned over to the school board by December 1, all complete, having been finished in much less time than is customary in undertakings of this size, and the school officials plan to hold open house in the new building shortly after it is completed, in order to give the people of this city an opportunity to inspect the newest addition to the educational plant of Glendale.

The work of the school will be carried on in the new building from a date immediately after the first of the new year.
